

Friday 13th November 2009

Dear Secondary Parents and Students,

The 12th Grade Diploma Program Production of Oedipus the King, originally scheduled to be performed on 26, 27 of November, has been rescheduled for Thursday and Friday the following week: December 3rd and 4th.

These advanced and enthusiastic students have taken on university-level commitments including ensemble choral work, student devised choreography, costume and mask design and construction, sound and lighting design, as well as collective sets and props decisions made in accordance with a shared sense of Peter Brook inspired minimalism.

Working remotely during this time they are keeping up with DP subject demands while facing an extraordinary theatrical challenge that is bringing out the best in them. The theater department would like to thank the parents, and faculty, especially the PE department, for supporting these students in what will surely be a unique culminating experience in their program.

Mark your calendars for December 3rd and 4th to share in this experience, and let us all hope that the mandatory closing of schools will end by 23 November.

Sincerely,
Stephen Ziegler
